

THERON ROCKWELL FIELD PRIZE

The Theron Rockwell Field Prize, established in 1957 by Emilia R. Field in memory of her husband, Theron Rockwell Field, 1889S, is given for “a poetic, literary, or religious work” of scholarship.

The Field Prize competition is open to all students enrolled in Yale University for a degree.

Requirements:

- Entries must be bound; loose sheets of paper or works that have been stapled together will not be accepted.
- Entries more than 50 pages should be accompanied by a separate one-page summary, which, for dissertations, may be a separate copy of the précis.
- Entries must be submitted no later than 5:00 p.m. on Monday, April 15, 2013 in hard copy (to the address below) and electronically.

Please note: Dissertations and other works submitted in a language other than English must be accompanied by an English-language translation.

Hard copy of submissions must be submitted to:

Erin Johnson                      Office of the Secretary, Woodbridge Hall
105 Wall Street, Lower Level
Telephone: 203-432-2315

Mailing address:                      Post Office Box 208230
New Haven, CT 06520-8230

FedEx, UPS:                              105 Wall Street, Room 1
New Haven, CT 06511

Electronic submissions must be submitted to erin.johnson@yale.edu. Files too large to be emailed may be sent via the University’s File Transfer Service: <https://files.yale.edu/>

Winners will be notified at Commencement. Doctoral theses may be picked up from the Office of the Secretary after Commencement; those theses not claimed by Tuesday, May 28 will be returned to the department. Other entries will be discarded unless accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ENTRIES ACCEPTED
March 1, 2013 - APRIL 15, 2013 at 5 p.m.